

Fundraising ideas

Sports Day – get everyone out for the afternoon and enjoy games at the local park...or even have an office Olympics and create any new sport you can think of.

Summer BBQ & Social – get everyone together on a summers evening for drinks and a BBQ and charge for tickets.

Fancy dress – hold a crazy Friday night out, or in, and get everyone to dress up as doctors and nurses...

...or you could hold a bad taste day and see who has the worst outfit or tie.

Win a day off! – Get your family and friend to take part in a raffle where the prize is you going to do their housework or garden for a day

Karaoke night – there is always someone who will pay to sing their favourite song – and others who will pay not to!

Operation game – play a knockout with the classic Operation Game and practice your skills at surgery.

A Big night in– Instead of going in have your family and friends around your place for drinks and nibbles and donate the money you would have spent.

Don't fear the stairs and put a forfeit box next to the lift for everyone to donate 50p every time they give in and use the lift.

Forget EBay and start your own auction ask friends and family to bring in all those unused presents and clothes and sell them and make a donation for every sale.

Get active and take part in the Great Manchester Run or other challenges

Or an unforgettable World Experience Challenges and Treks like trekking in Peru, cycling in Champagne, or parachuting out of a plane!

Take up the Step-o-meter challenge and make bets on how many steps you take a day

Offer your talents to your friends and family... teach them how to knit, yoga or paint or give massages or stress relief tips.

Organise a Give It Up day! and get people to sponsor you to give something up...whether it be smoking, coffee or using your mobile.

Tuck Shop – treat everyone on a Friday and sell snacks– but make sure you make a healthy profit on each sale!

Pub games championship – for those days when your not feeling active...hire a room in a pub and organise a games championship with darts, pool, cards and backgammon.

Ideas for your workplace...

Dress Down Days – get everyone involved by wearing red clothes for the day whether it be a tie, t-shirt, skirt or a whole red outfit!

Big Breakfast – hold a big breakfast with your colleagues before you start work and charge everyone for joining in. Get your day started with strawberries and toast and red jam. Or create a prize draw for a luxury breakfast in a top hotel.

Slave Auction – auction off promises and for a donation you could get all your filing or photocopying done, or have a colleague make you tea and get your lunch.

Auction unique experiences – cash in on celebrities you know or clubs you're a member of and get your colleagues to bid for a unique day out or experience.

Love notes – make a donation to post a Valentines message on your work pin board.

Have colleagues volunteer to be Milk Tray Men and pay them to deliver chocolates to a special colleague on Valentines day

Or sponsor a workmate to be a Martini Girl for the afternoon...delivering cocktails and drinks to your friends as valentines presents.

Encourage everyone to collect all their loose change, foreign coins for a collection.

Treasure hunt – organise a treasure hunt around your office or local area.

Celebrity motivational talk – invite a celebrity or important person to come into work and give you and your colleagues motivational talk or hold a discussion group and charge for tickets.

Computer game competition – get all those closet computer game experts to put their skills to the test in a knockout Xbox competition at lunchtime and pay to play.

Sweepstakes – organise a sweepstake for an upcoming footie match, the Christmas no.1, a tennis tournament or the Grand National.

Set your Boss Challenges and if you raise enough money around the office he has to fulfil them such as covering reception for an hour, delivering post or making tea.

Bang up your Boss – get everyone in the office to pledge money to see one of the managers put in chains at the end of the week! The one with the most pledges is made a convict for the day

Quiz night – get everyone to donate to test their general knowledge against their colleagues or organise a mastermind competition and grill them on their chosen subject.
